

David Opar Biography

David Opar (PhD) is a hamstring injury researcher from Australian Catholic University, Melbourne, Australia.

David's work has focused on the identifying and modelling the risk of hamstring injury in athletes and has also examined improvements in rehabilitation strategies. He is also the co-inventor of the "NordBord" which is a well-known field test of eccentric hamstring strength.