

Nicola A.Maffiuletti Biography

I obtained my PhD degree (Sport Science) in 2000 from the University of Burgundy in Dijon (France), where I subsequently worked as an Assistant Professor.

Since 2005 I am the Head of the Human Performance Lab at the Schulthess Clinic in Zurich (Switzerland).

My current research focuses on different aspects of human neuromuscular function, with the ultimate goal to provide (possibly) useful knowledge to researchers, clinicians and practitioners working in different fields.